Decay, critters plague G'wood office

By MICHAEL DANIELS

Something is rotten in the town of Greenwood, but that's just fine with the mice, bats and carpenter ants that call the Town Office building home.

The three-room structure, the former Locke Mills Schoolhouse, is in need of serious repairs — or, selectmen said Tuesday, possibly replacement.

The main beam that holds up the two back rooms (used by the selectmen and Planning Board) is failing, chewed through in places by carpenter ants and rot.

Some of the building's sills are also rotten, leaving joists to wobble and the floorboards above to sag and heave.

And the foundation under the front door has deteriorated to the point it has become a safety concern, said Select-board Chair Loretta Mikols.

"We have to do something by the front door. We can't wait until somebody falls through. It bends when I walk on it," said Mikols — who weighs in at a less-than-beam-shaking 125 pounds.

Critters

Then there are the other inhabitants of the building.

Rain pooling near the front door creates "a lovely cool, dark place for the carpenter ants," said Mikols.

Also at home are thriving populations of mice and bats.

At their regular meeting Tuesday, the selectmen approved a contract with Modern Pest Services to deal with the ants and mice.

Football is back

By ALISON ALOISIO

Two years ago the Telstar Football Boosters accepted a dare, and as a result, on Monday evening the SAD44 Board of Directors accepted the return here of high school football.

The SAD44 School Board Monday unanimously approved a five-year agreement with the Telstar Football Boosters to re-instate football at the school.

But concerns were expressed at the meeting on several issues. Among them: that the largely boys' sport could leave the district in violation of Title IX, the law that requires a balance between boys' and girls' sports; and that football could create logistical and other conflicts with existing sports.

The Football Boosters raised more than $80,000 to pay start-up costs for the sport, which will begin this fall as a practice program.

Need equality

Pat Nasta of Bethel, the parent of two boys and a girl, told directors she understood from talking with Superintendent Dave Murphy that the district is currently in compliance with Title IX.

But, she said, that implies that with the addition of football, "we will no longer be in compliance. I hope for equality. That's a big issue for me."

In addition, Nasta said she could see potential conflicts in such areas as field space and storage areas.

She also questioned how much staff time would be required to run the football program. Even though the Boosters are paying the obvious costs, she said, "time is money."

In the first year, the Boosters will pay for equipment and other initial expenses. But the group has recently agreed to cover first-year coaching, transportation and officiating costs — costs the district had originally agreed to pay if the sport was reestablished.

Second vote on school taxes set for Tuesday

By ALISON ALOISIO

SAD44 voters will return to the polls Tuesday to vote on a referendum question that would reduce by $78,000 the original $1,980,740 local share of the FY07 school budget.

The reduction followed the defeat of the local share article in a June 13 referendum.

The funds pay for costs and programs over and above what Maine now deems "essential programs and services," under the state's new effort to gradually increase its funding share of school budgets statewide.

Local objections to school funding ranged from the Bethel selectmen's initial refusal in June to sign the warrant for the referendum vote, to former Woodstock selectman Steve Bies' contention that the School Board was not using an additional $408,000 received in state aid this year for tax relief.

Bies and two Bethel selectmen, Dennis Doyon and Reggie Brown, were among those attending a public hearing Monday on the revised budget.

Superintendent Dave Murphy said the state now provides funding based on a budget figure for the district that it has determined using the new Essential Programs and Services funding formula.

As a result, he said, in two years the state will reach its required percentage of state aid to education, but that percentage will be based on a smaller number than it had

Ersel Murphy, 102, credits the hard work of raising a dozen kids with keeping her young

By ALISON ALOISIO

Asked last week if she was really going to turn 102 July 14, Ersel Murphy replied, "That's what they tell me."

She may have stopped counting the years, but she has an idea why she's healthy enough to be in her second century.

"Hard work. I had to stay healthy with all the family to bring up," she said. "I had nine children and adopted three. My husband used to say they were cheaper by the dozen."

Murphy and her husband raised their family in Bethel, but her own life started in Avon.

Her father died when she was very young. Ersel and her older brother then lived for a time on her grandmother's farm in Phillips.

Her mother later remarried. Her stepfather helped build the railroad tracks through Eustis Junction, and the family lived near the railroad.

"The train tracks came close to the house," she said. "We had a chicken wire fence on the back to keep the animals off the tracks."

The tracks provided the family with transportation — but not by traditional train.

"There were no roads nearby, so we got on a push car on the railroad tracks. Then we'd go two or three miles to the road, to the place where we kept the car [a Model T]."

Like many places in Maine at that time, the roads weren't plowed. "They rolled the roads. They were the last thing to thaw in the spring," she said.

And spring usually followed a winter more severe than what we've seen in Maine in recent decades, she said.

In addition to the usual childhood pursuits, such as swimming in a nearby river in the summer, Ersel loved to play the piano.

"My older brother bought me a piano for my 13th birthday," she said. "I took lessons in Phillips."

Few details provided on Rumford casino plan

ASSOCIATED PRESS

The promoter of a casino in Oxford County offered few details at the launch last Friday of a signature-gathering drive.

Seth Carey, a local lawyer and founder of a group that calls itself Evergreen Mountain Enterprises, kicked off the drive in hopes of obtaining tens of thousands of signatures to put his proposed casino to a statewide vote next year.

Carey said the resort would offer a full range of outdoor activities and would include fine dining, a European-style spa, and a winery and microbrewery.

But he declined to discuss key details, including who'd finance the project or how large it would be. He also declined to offer a specific location.

"We will have the money when the time comes," Carey said when asked about financing. He said it's early in the process to offer details, "but I can tell you it will be done in the most professional way possible."

Rumford Town Manager Stephen Eldridge, who attended the announcement, said he liked the idea of a first-class resort but wanted more specifics. "Is this the person who can pull it off?" Eldridge said afterward. "I don't know."

Penn National Gaming Inc., which operates the state's only slots parlor in Bangor, declined to comment on the proposal.

Board to review Mayville sewer study

By MICHAEL DANIELS

The Bethel Board of Selectmen will hold a special meeting Monday to discuss the town's options for extending its sewer lines into Mayville.

No decision has been made to do so, but for several years the selectmen have operated on the assumption that the lines would be eventually be extended.

With that eventuality in mind, in 2004 voters approved spending $294,000 to replace aging sewer infrastructure on the village side of the planned new recreational bridge.

And $30,000 dollars of that money was used to equip the new bridge to carry a sewer main across the river.

That line, 500 feet of specially designed, state of the art, heat-taped and double-insulated six-inch pipe now rests under the bridge. On the north bank it extends underground for 50 feet underneath and alongside the recreational path.

At that point it is stubbed off.

At the time the main was installed, Dutch Dresser, then chairman of the Board of Selectmen, said it would not be extended further until development and demand in Mayville, and perhaps beyond, warranted.

"I don't see any immediate takers," Dresser said, "but I do think it would be a mistake not to be forward looking in this."

Engineering survey

There now appears to be at least one interested taker — condo developer Mike Pelletier.

Pelletier is constructing Twitchell Brook Estates, on a 28-acre parcel of land on the west side of Route 2, just over a half mile north of the bridge (roughly behind the Good Food Store).

If a private septic system is used for the project, it can act-

COWARDLY AND HATEFUL ACT

To the Editor:
I was the target of a cowardly and hateful act while on Main Street in Bethel last week. It was an act that caused me considerable pain and has prompted me to speak out in this letter, for racial intolerance should not be an acceptable message in any community in Maine.
I came to Bethel with 13 professionals representing government, business and education in eight states and two countries to participate in a NTL training program. I was representing the state of Maine. I was the only African-American. Behaviors that are rooted in an intolerance of differences, although they may be the act of one, reflect on an entire community. The young man who leaned out the window of the pickup truck he was a passenger in and shouted a racial slur as he passed was the act of one. His singular act left an indelible mark on my experience in Bethel as well as my entire class of participants. The work of rooting out intolerance remains at all of our doorsteps. We cannot rest until the message has been clearly delivered that similar behaviors are not welcome nor will they be tolerated.
This was my first time in Bethel, and I found a community of good, hard-working people whose community pride was evident in their beautification efforts, the friendly and engaging conversations of merchants, and the world-class service provided in the restaurants and lodging I visited. However, community also means embracing the hard work of having the more difficult conversations that respect and celebrate differences. My experience may be a good starting place for engagement, for intolerance has appeared on Main Street.
I have made a choice to live and work in Maine, and came to Bethel to gain new insight for improving the way government and its citizens work together. This incident has demonstrated that there remains much work to be done. I plan to continue to work, but it will require that many of the private and supportive conversations I had after the incident are given a public and collective voice.

BETHEL WILL BE APPALLED

To the Editor:
I recently visited Bethel to attend a NTL workshop along with 13 other individuals from across the world. This is my third visit to Bethel and I was really looking forward to it. Part of your city's charm comes from the peacefulness I feel in an environment that seems safer and slower than the one to which I'm accustomed. So it is with great sadness that I became aware of an incident during my stay that occurred on Main Street. Two participants of the workshop I was attending were walking down Main Street during our lunch break and one, an African-American female, was the target of a racial slur.
I'm sharing this incident because I feel certain that citizens of Bethel, when they are made aware of what occurred, will be as appalled as I am and will take action to ensure that guests to your town who "appear" different than them will be made welcome and will feel safe to enjoy Bethel as much as I have in the past.
To paraphrase Edmund Burke: The only thing necessary for the triumph of evil is for good men and women to do nothing.

ONE ACT OF IGNORANCE

To the Editor:
I recently had the opportunity to visit Bethel to attend a weeklong workshop sponsored by NTL. This was my first visit to Bethel. My overall experience was very positive. I visited several local establishments and encountered many helpful and friendly citizens. However, one incident did occur that left an impression on me that I won't soon forget.
One day during lunch, two participants from the workshop I was attending were walking down Main Street and one, an African-American female, was the target of a racial slur.
Upon learning of this incident, I experienced a range of emotions starting with denial (i.e. Did that really happen?) and progressing toward indignation (i.e. What an ignorant and cowardly act).
Again, with the exception of this incident my experience with Bethel was very positive. Unfortunately, one act of ignorance can have a negative impact on many.

VERY SORRY THIS HAPPENED

To the Editor:
I've heard a disturbing report that an NTL attendee walking along Main Street last week was subjected to a derogatory racial slur shouted by a young man in a pickup truck driving by. I hope the unfortunate person insulted will understand that this is completely against what Bethel people as a whole stand for, and we are very sorry this happened. It is in no way representative of the town of Bethel or the Bethel area. I also hope that the young man shouting the slur will come to realize, over time, that respect for every person is in everyone's best interest, including his own.

SUPERINTENDENT SEEKS SUPPORT

To the Editor:
In June, voters of the district authorized the SAD44 School Board to expend the total requested school budget of $9,911,861. The question regarding the additional local article, however, necessary to fund a portion of the total approved budget, did not pass. As a result, a second referendum has been scheduled for July 25 to approve the remaining question.
The purpose of this letter is to seek the support of district voters in the upcoming referendum by providing a detailed overview of state aid to education and the impact it has had on this school district.
— Upon the passage of LD #1, many voters believed that the state would finally be held accountable to provide the 55 percent contribution to education that had been required. Instead, shortly after the approval of LD #1, the state implemented a new formula for reimbursing schools. Instead of continuing to reimburse schools as it had in the past, the state shifted to a formula that enabled the State, rather than the local community, to determine what it felt was "essential" for the operation of local schools. Nearly 70 percent of school systems in Maine were over the amounts established by the state's funding model. Many rural school districts were especially hard hit by this new formula. Furthermore, the model dictates that any expenditure over the state — determined "essential" amount — receives no financial support from the state. That amount needs to be funded by the towns at 100 percent of the cost.
— Even though the state has dictated what costs are essential for funding purposes, it will still only be providing 90 percent of its required contribution to education in the coming year.
— The Essential Services and Funding formula for the 2006-2007 school year set the cost of what the state designates to be "essential" education for SAD44 schools at $6,855,090. As a result, SAD44 will receive state aid based on that amount. For reasons of comparison, it should be noted that the last time the district had a budget that approximated this figure was in the 1994-1995 school year when the budget was $6,845,356.
— The referendum article on the July 25 ballot seeks approval of $1,902,740 in additional local funds. It is important to emphasize that this amount is necessary to fund the $9,911,861 total budget approved by the voters in June. It is the portion of that figure that the state requires us to fund at 100 percent local cost as described in the first dashed paragraph above. In fact, $536,376 of this requested figure is the direct result of the state's shortfall in funding its share of education.
— Due to the fact that the School Board has cut the previous "additional local" funds by $78,000 since the June referendum, the actual school budget to be expended will be $9,833,861 rather than the figure of $9,911,861 approved in June.
— In the 1996-1997 school year SAD44 received $2,442,910 from the state in educational funding. In the 2005-2006 year just completed, we received just $2,335,970.
— Over the past decade, average increases to the school budget have been less than the average increases to most municipal budgets in the district and the county budget.
— Fixed costs, including fuel, insurance, and results of required collective bargaining, continue to rise, often being offset by other cuts made to the budget in an effort to keep overall increases to a minimum.
— Last year, the total school budget was held to a 0 percent increase from the previous year.
— EPS also changed the local cost sharing formulas of school districts across the state. As a result of the aggressive effort made by this school district; however, SAD44 became one of only two school systems in Maine to be excluded from the new cost sharing formula mandated by the state. The results of what that exclusion means to district towns are listed below.

Town	Without Exclusion	With Exclusion	Difference By Town
Andover	$631,424	$511,343	$120,081
Bethel	$2,753,908	$2,229,154	$524,754
Greenwood	$892,992	$722,631	$170,361
Newry	$907,243	$1,925,349	($1,018,106)
Woodstock	$1,065,566	$862,656	$202,910

— Over the past two weeks, I have met with selectmen to thoroughly review the funding formula changes and the impact of state aid to education in this district.
— As expected, SAD44 received an additional $408,000 from the state for the 2006-2007 school year, bringing the state contribution up to only 90 percent of the "essential" figure discussed above. This is still $536,376 below the full state contribution toward its own funding model. This was applied to the FY 07 budget.
— In addition to fixed-cost increases, the only new positions considered in this budget were the replacement of one of the two custodial positions eliminated in the district last year, the addition of a Math Specialist Teaching position to the Telstar complex to help address our continuing efforts to improve math opportunities at those grade levels, and the separation of the current position of Director of Buildings and Grounds/Transportation into two separate positions.
— The total increase to the local portion of this budget will be 2.85 percent after the application of the additional state aid.
— The total increase to the gross budget is 5.29 percent, an average of 2.65 percent over the past two years.
— The reintroduction of football to Telstar High School will not impact the 2006-2007 school budget, since the Telstar Football Boosters have offered to absorb all costs for the program for the year. After the initial year, the costs of coaching, official fees and transportation will be the responsibility of the district, with the Football Boosters absorbing all costs associated with uniforms, equipment, etc. This agreement was put into contract form, reviewed by the Board's attorneys and approved at the July 17 School Board meeting.
— It is important that the school budget be approved in a timely fashion to allow for a smooth opening of the school year.
The School Board should be commended on their many efforts in building this budget over the past six months. Developing a budget that provides quality educational opportunities for students while being cognizant of the needs of the taxpayers is not an easy task.
The Board and I also appreciated Bethel Selectman Dennis Doyon's comments at the July 17 Public Hearing.
At that time, he reaffirmed that the action taken by the Bethel Board of Selectmen prior to the June referendum was not intended as a criticism of the SAD44 budget. He stated that the selectmen's initial refusal to sign the budget warrant was to indicate frustration with state and federal mandates.
Finally, it is important to stress that the SAD44 budget process is completed entirely in public session over a period of several months. The public is always encouraged to attend and offer input. If I may be of any additional assistance regarding the upcoming Budget referendum, please do not hesitate to contact me at 824-2185.

GET IN ON THE ACT

To the Editor:
Maine Performing Arts Fest is Aug. 9 thru 13. This fun time will require the volunteer energy of youngsters, oldesters and in-between-sters of the SAD44 towns for ushering at a matinee or evening performance, being a "gofer" among the various street acts (some errands may require driving), sewing things designed for props, loaning items from your attic for the stage — to name a few.
The young men of Polar Bear Lawn Care have set a wonderful example by offering to set up and take down the risers needed for the common.
This festival has perks for us SAD44 residents such as discounts on tickets and keepsakes for volunteers. For more information for you, your family, organization or community, please contact: Ginger Rickeman (visherick@yahoo.com), Steve Wight at 824-0488 or Susan Herlihy at 824-3932 (machine).

commodate 22 units, but if it could be hooked up to town sewer lines, 38 units could be built.
Early this year Pelletier approached the town about the possibility of a Mayville hook-up.
In May, the selectmen agreed to split the cost (approximately $10,000) of a preliminary engineering study of such an extension.
On Monday they will review the results of that study.
Town Manager Scott Cole said the study lays out a range of possible design options, with cost estimates.
There are numerous decisions that would have to be made if the town were to undertake such a project, Cole said — not only regarding engineering and financing, but also the political aspects of extending the line (for example, whether residences and businesses in the affected area would be required to hook up to the sewer line).
But one thing is certain, he said — current sewer system customers would not be called on to bear the cost (estimated at $300,000 to $650,000) of any extension.
The cost would be borne by the new users who would benefit from the extension, Cole said.
Bethel taxpayers, however, might be asked to approve borrowing to cover the initial cost of an extension, with that money to be paid back by users and fees from new hook-ups.

Incoming from skiway?
Just how far Bethel's sewer lines might eventually be extended to the north will probably be determined by future development patterns, Cole said.
But there is a possibility — an outside one — that it could be all the way to Sunday River Ski Resort.
Cole said he has been approached by Sunday River officials about the possibility of the skiway connecting to the system.
He characterized the discussions as "exploratory."

Teen hiker rescued

ANDOVER—Local rescuers teamed up this past weekend to aide a dehydrated teen hiker in Frye Brook Notch, near Surplus Mountain. Ryan Coyner, 18, of Greenwich, Conn. was hiking with his father in the Frye Brook area when he was overcome by the heat and humidity. A rescue effort, based at the Andover Fire Department, was organized in the early afternoon. Rescue teams reached him late in the afternoon, but it was decided for safety reasons to wait until Sunday morning to bring him down. Coyner received IV fluids through the evening from two Med-Care paramedics, according to Bob Baribeau of Mahoosuc Mountain Rescue, who stayed overnight with the hiker. MMR member Catherine Cushing, as well as Capt. Dennis Hall of the AFD and George Lauzier of Andover Technical Rescue also spent the night. At 6 a.m., Coyner and the rescuers started to hike out. Other rescuers set up stages along the way to provide water and food for the group, numbering about 15, on their way. Among local rescuers helping Sunday morning were Chief Gary Wight and D.J. Duprey of the Newry Fire Department. MMR members Woody Hughes, John Nesbitt, and Dan Elliott also helped both days. The Maine Warden Service oversaw the rescue. Baribeau said several Appalachian Trail hikers also helped out in the effort. Coyner was checked at Rumford Hospital.

Electric costs push up sewer rate

BETHEL—The rate paid by customers of the Bethel Sewer District has gone up 4.5 percent. The new rate is $7 per 100 cubic feet of water used, up from $6.70 for the previous billing year. (Sewer fees are calculated on the basis of metered readings of water coming into a home or business.) The minimum quarterly charge for sewer users, previously $100.50 has also increased, to $105. The new rates were approved by town selectmen last week, following a public hearing attended by a half dozen residents. Town Manager Scott Cole told the meeting that rising electric costs were the largest factor driving the rate increase. None of those attending the hearing questioned the increase, but Dutch Dresser, former chairman of the Board of Selectmen, urged the board to form an ad hoc committee to study whether money could be saved by merging the town's water and sewer departments. "We really owe it to the ratepayers," Dresser said. John Head, chairman of the Bethel Water District Board of Trustees said the only way he would support such a move would be if the combined entity was managed by an elected board, rather than a board appointed by the selectmen. The selectmen took no immediate action on Dresser's suggestion.

Rollover closes Route 2

HANOVER—Traffic on Route 2 was backed up for miles in both directions last Thursday afternoon, after a 31-foot-long fifth-wheel camper tipped over when the driver of the pickup truck pulling it swerved to avoid a large bull moose. The camper landed on its side, blocking both lanes, about three miles west of Gordie Howe's store. The truck rolled onto its side and ended up in a drainage ditch. The four occupants, two adults and two young boys, all of whom were wearing seatbelts, escaped serious injury. Both the pickup, a 2003 Ford 250, and the trailer, a 2006 Gulfstream, were totaled. State Trooper David Hanson estimated the damage at around $50,000. The accident occurred at 12:30; the road was reopened to two-way traffic shortly before 3 p.m.

Legislators' environmental scores

BRUNSWICK—State legislators from Oxford County received ratings of from 13 to 73 percent on the latest environmental scorecard compiled by the Maine League of Conservation Voters. This year's annual scorecard was based on how a senator or representative voted on 13 environment-related bills during the 122nd Legislature. Overall, the county's 12 legislators received an average rating of 41 percent. Scoring highest among Oxford County legislators was Sen. Bruce Bryant (D-Oxford), who earned the score of 73 percent. He was followed by Reps. John L. Patrick (D-Rumford) and Roberta Muse (R-Fryeburg), both at 67 percent. Rep. Arlan Jodrey (R-Bethel) received a 42 percent rating (up from a 7 percent for the previous Legislative session); and Rep. H. Sawin Millitt Jr. (R-Waterford) received a 33 percent rating. Other county legislators and their scores: Rep. Joan Bryant-Deschenes (R-Turner), 25; Rep. Philip A. Cressey, Jr. (R-Cornish), 17; Rep. James M. Hamper (R-Oxford), 25; Rep. Bruce Q. Hanley (R-Paris), 33; Rep. Randy E. Hotham (R-Dixfield), 42; Rep. Richard M. Sykes (R-Harrison), 33; Sen. David R. Hastings III (R-Oxford), 36.

Saddleback expansion OK'd

RANGELEY—State development regulators have given the owner of Saddleback Ski Area approval to expand the resort with 18 new condominiums and five house lots as early as this summer. The projects approved by the Land Use Regulation Commission are part of a larger $150 million, 10-year plan that includes as many as 275 condominiums and 310 condominium time-share units, and 165 house lots in a village-type setting on the western Maine mountain. Ski trails and facilities for hiking, biking and kayaking would also be added. In approving the first phase of the expansion, LURC also approved roads, parking and utilities at the ski resort. Saddleback owner Bill Berry said the more extensive 10-year project would bolster the Rangeley area's economy by expanding four-season tourism. Berry's family purchased the ski mountain in 2003 when it was about to close. Since then, the ski area's lodge has been expanded and modernized.

HAPPY 102—Ersel Murphy, Bethel's oldest resident, celebrated her 102nd birthday Friday, and throughout the weekend, as many relatives and friends stopped by to wish her well. Murphy has lived in Bethel since 1943.

She also took voice lessons. Ersel got her academic education in a country school in Lower Dallas. And her mother taught Ersel and other children in a Sunday School held in their house. When Ersel got old enough, she taught too.

When it was time to go to high school, she went off to board with people in Rangeley, where the nearest high school was located. She met her future husband, Pat, there.

After graduating in 1923, Ersel went to Portland and studied at a children's hospital to be a nurse.

Raising a family
She then returned to the Rangeley area, where she and Pat started their family.

After nine children, the Murphys decided to adopt three more, and loved them just like the others.

"When you take a baby three days old home from the hospital and bring him up, he's yours," she said.

In the early 1940s, the Murphy's oldest daughter decided she wanted to attend Gould Academy. Because the family couldn't afford to pay the cost for a boarding student, they decided to move to Bethel.

They bought the Mayville home she still lives in, and 66 acres, for $3,600.

Once here, with her own children getting older, Ersel went to work for a doctor. "I helped deliver babies. That's what we did -- we brought babies into the world."

Ersel also continued to enjoy playing the piano. Her son Jim said when a new recording came out he would go to the drug store to pick up sheet music and bring it home for his mother to play.

For many years she also sang and served as the choir director at the Methodist Church.

"She had a beautiful soprano voice," said Jim.

The Murphys were members of the Bear River Grange in Newry.

"It was a place we could go and take all the children," she said. "I played piano for them."

Ersel remembers going to annual "sugaring off" parties at the grange. One of those gatherings was recently mentioned in The Citizen's "Looking Back" column, which each week looks at news in 10-year intervals back to 100 years ago.

Still an active mind
Ersel enjoys reading the column, she said. She likes looking for familiar names.

She's also a fan of Sharon Bouchard's column "The Way I See It."

"She usually makes you laugh a little bit. That's good for everyone," Ersel said.

For the last 20 years or so, Ersel has played daily games of Skip-Bo, a card game.

"If anyone comes in, she's ready to play," Jim said. "She and I have at least one game before she gets ready for bed."

Ersel also continues her role as a grandmother, great-grandmother, and great-great-grandmother.

"I figure the Lord wanted me to work for him as long as I can be of any use," she said. "When he's ready to take me home, I'm ready."

Football

Other interests
Nasta also said a survey of students done two years ago indicated not only an interest in football, but in other sports and activities as well.

She wondered, she said, if a group were interested in adding another sport, such as girls' soccer, whether another community group would have to be formed to raise money and negotiate an agreement with the board.

In responding to Nasta's concern about Title IX, Murphy said SAD44's lawyer told him the sports programs currently serve more girls than boys. "If you have 60 people show up for football, that could change," he said.

The district will monitor the numbers, he said, and seek to provide other opportunities, athletic or otherwise, if needed.

He also said the board can terminate the agreement at any time.

Board policy also requires a review of how the program is functioning in two years, he said.

He said that most of the additional $408,000 has been taken up by fixed costs, such as fuel and negotiated salary agreements.

(For more on the details of the budget and funding, see Murphy's letter to the editor, page 2.)

Citizen comment

Rod Harrington of Greenwood said the district had not made a good case for its budget. He said he wanted to see the spending justified by explanations of how it would lead to better test scores, a lower dropout rate, etc.

Bies said that while he still disagrees with Murphy's view of the $408,000, he objects more to the way it was presented in a district-wide informational mailing in May.

He said the additional funds were not addressed in a letter from Murphy that accompanied the mailing, but were instead shown only in a line item in the budget summary.

"You're not being open with the public," he said Monday.

Murphy took issue with that, saying the figure was discussed several times by the board in open meetings covered by the newspaper. (The Citizen first reported the additional $408,000 in its April 27 edition.)

As for the letter in the mailing, Murphy acknowledged "we could do a better job communicating," and vowed to

Boosters "met our dare"

When the board declined two years ago to fund the sport with district money, directors told football supporters they would have to raise the funds privately.

"We essentially dared them to raise the money. They met our dare, and more," said director Marcel Polak of Woodstock.

He said he is not personally a fan of football. But in voting for the agreement Polak said, "I think the best strategy is to give it a chance."

go to selectmen's meetings in 2007 to discuss budget planning for FY'08.

He also said he recently had a good meeting with the Bethel selectmen regarding the FY'07 budget.

Doyon said at the hearing that his board's refusal to sign the referendum warrant in June was not intended as a direct reflection on the school board, but was more a commentary on the loss of local control because of state and federal mandates.

He used the state's new requirements for minimum teacher salaries as an example.

"I think you have a very difficult job," he told directors.

Greenwood

The bats will be dealt with later, after more information about them is collected, said Town Manager Kim Sparks.

But Selectman Fred Henderson was skeptical the control measures would accomplish much in the long run.

"The building is just too porous," Henderson said.

A new building?

The building that houses the town's offices was turned over to the town in 1983, after nearly a century of service as a schoolhouse.

It was built in three sections, in 1890, 1913, and 1933, according to Blaine Mills, of the Greenwood Historical Society.

The three rooms provide convenient space for the town's administrative functions, but the building itself has proven expensive to maintain.

"It's a money pit and it's always been a money pit," said Selectman Wayne Hakala.

The selectmen said they plan to explore a range of options for dealing with the situation, including replacing the building.

Repairs are still an option, Mikols said, "but is that good money after bad or is that money that could be better spent for the inevitable?"

The possibility of replacing the building, she said, "is an obvious thing that it would be irresponsible of us not to investigate."

One option, Mikols said, would be to combine the town offices and Locke Mills fire station (which also needs work).

Federal funds are available for such projects, she said.

"Putting things together in that way puts us in a category to apply for kinds of grants we might not otherwise be eligible for," Mikols said.

If a new building is the answer, joked Hakala, "it should be built right smack dab in the middle of town, at the cattle pound."

(The pound, a small, round, stone enclosure for holding livestock, is located on the east side of the Greenwood Road, approximately five miles south of the Route 26 intersection in Locke Mills.)

Bethel

by Virginia Keniston

Cindy Freeman from Salem, Ore., visited friends and family in town last week, on her way to Boston for a Red Sox game.

Many thanks go to the following volunteers who made it possible for the Red Hat Ladies to ride in the Mollykett Day parade: Norm and Sylvia Clanton, Bob and Polly Davis, Jan and Dexter Stowell, Kathy Bennett, Lou Prada, Judy Barker, Martha Martin, Rosabelle Tift, and Sandra Savage. Thanks also go to Susie at Shylyn's and Gail at The Root Cellar for their support with props.

Jane Young was a recent guest of her nieces, the Chapin girls, Nancy Brown of Bolton, Conn., Cindy Krauss of Falmouth, and Mary Ann Baker of Collierville, Tenn. Their families joined them, and an extra treat was enjoyed by all when Nancy and her husband's daughter, Carrie Masse and husband Don with brand new baby, Logan, from San Diego, Calif., joined them for their vacation. Cindy and husband's daughter, Miranda Ducharme and husband Greg from Stratham, N.H., with their two children, William, and another new baby, Kate, rounded out the gathering.

Mountain Greenery is closed until it is time to pick up our mums and fall decorations. They had a good year even though the first month and half was very rainy.

Mary Eichel of Songo Pond enjoyed an overnight visit Saturday night from her niece and husband, Judy Wentzell and Huey Coleman of Portland. They were delighted with the fireworks at the Bethel Inn Saturday night and Sunday sitting by the pond to keep cool.

Norma Salway had her Gould Academy Classmates of 1963, Jane Allen Smith of Kennebunk and Marsha Langley Wiggins of Stratham, N.H., visit with her recently. They went out to lunch and spent the afternoon just catching up on each one's family activities.

Daniel and Kiaya Getchell of Portland and Kyle Salway of Old Orchard Beach have been guests of their grandmother, Norma Salway. Daniel and Kyle had their visit together and Kiaya had her visit by herself.

Roger Dock and family of Wallingford, Conn., and Stephen Dock, Greenville, N.C., were visiting in the area on the weekend and were seen at Mollykett Day on the common on Saturday. They also visited with their dad, Norman Dock, at the Maine Veterans' Home in South Paris.

Mr. and Mrs. John Greenleaf and Mrs. Arlene Brown spent several days recently with Mr. and Mrs. Robert Greenleaf in North Scituate, R.I.

Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Greenleaf of Rumford, R.I., visited with relatives in town on Monday.

Charles Hamlin of Long Meadow, Mass., also has been visiting in town.

Middle Intervale News

By Pat Carter

As I drive up and down the Middle Intervale Road I see one log cabin house after another popping out of the ground. It occurred to me that my great-grandmother, Sarah Abbott Gunther who was born, grew up and lived her adult life on this road would feel quite at home. When she and my great-grandfather, Will Gunther, married in 1881, folks just starting out often built log cabins. It was all they could afford. Those with more money had homes with clapboards. They were up town. Now folks with money put up log homes and they are up town; however, for the most part they rarely live in them. How times change!

I recently overheard a group of men in the neighborhood discussing the art of stacking wood. For those who cut their own wood it's part of the process — this stacking business. No one wants their woodpile to fall over. It's a lot of work to restack it and sends out an unwritten message that they didn't know what they were doing. All the men agreed that the undisputed King of the Woodpile stackers is Lee Hutchins. I wonder if he gives lessons.

Ken and Gale Kuhl of Taylor Woods have put an addition on their lovely home. They now have a place for their hot tub and come spring Gale has designs on it to sneak a few plants in there to start sort of a mini greenhouse. I gather Kenny is dubious as to whether Gale can keep it to just "a few."

Paul and Ellie Default, who live on Howling Hole Road on Swan Hill, are enjoying the company of their grandson, Jackson. Paul and Ellie went to the Cape and picked him up and got him back to Bethel in time to take in Mollykett Day. Jackson is going to soccer camp at Gould this week. Hope it's a great experience for him.

Mayville News

By Don Bennett

Mayville weather was pretty good. We had four days with no rain and for the three days with rain we received a total of one and five sixteenths inches.

Besides being helmsman for the Bethel Outdoor Adventures Mollykett Day Parade float, Jeff told me that his canoe/kayak launches were averaging 15 to 20 a day but on good days they were seeing 110 to 120 boats go into the water. The Parsons along with Jim Mann are going to test run tours to the Bumpus Mine in Albany from their campground. These tours will highlight the local area's international reputation as a unique part of the world's mineral and gem occurrence.

Norm and Sylvia Clanton were this year's sparkplugs for the Red Hats parade float. In Saturday's parade the float was staffed by Polly Davis, driver, Rosabelle Tift, assistant driver, with Martha Martin, Judy Barker, Sylvia Clanton and Sandra Savage greeting and waving. Bob Davis donated his red pickup with a measurable degree of confidence since his wife would be driving it.

Roger Conant reported that the Riverside Cemetery "save the riverbank" fund has reached $1,727.35. Richard Valentine was the latest donor. The association is thankful for support of its much needed cemetery grounds restoration. No word has come yet about government financial aid.

Tuesday, our daughter Apryl and other grandson, Jeremy, came for a week's vacation.

From the Prodigal Inn Marcey White told me that their most distant guests this week were from St. Louis, Mo., and Frisco, Texas. Marcey and Tom have a new granddaughter, Isabella Paige White, born on Friday, July 14, 2006, in the Rumford Hospital. Isabella's dimensions were 6 pounds, 4 ounces, 19 inches long.

License plate news at the River View Resort this weekend showed that all New England states were represented plus Ontario, New Jersey and New Brunswick.

Jenni Fredricks at the Briar Lea Inn relates this story: "Last night we had a couple staying with us. After dinner in the bar they mentioned they came from Surprise, Ariz. In another corner two gentlemen were discussing the remodeling of their home in Bethel, on a well-known street. I took the opportunity to say to the couple from Arizona, 'You may have Surprise but we have Paradise!'"

Also at the Briar Lea Friday at lunch two of our returning patrons introduced themselves as Domenic and Serena Pugliese. They are the couple who are remodeling the garage (formerly Paul Carter's) in Mayville into two condos and retail units. Serendipitously I mentioned Mayville and the Mayflower. They are naming their project Mayville Junction and the Mayflower is Serena's grandmother's favorite flower. There may be a possibility of them incorporating the Mayflower into their logo.

More work on re-constructing the garage building at Mayville Junction's lot continued this week. Old siding is being removed. The roof will eventually be replaced. The Bethel Planning Board has signed the site and subdivision plans for Mayville Junction. After a sort of auction on limiting the hours of operation the board approved hours of 6 a.m. to 11 p.m. Meeting minutes also recorded that the board approved use of a private well; the Bethel Water District's estimate to connect to public water was reported at $93,500. The nearest fire hydrant to this project stands in front of Norm and Sylvia Clanton's home.

Down the road at Twitchell Brook Estates excavation and clearing work was pushed ahead. The project's "Do Not Enter" signs refer interested parties to Mahosuc Realty. No word on the authority to connect this condo project to the Bethel Water District system has been received yet at BWD.

Another Mayville resident to make the planning board minutes was John Thurston. John apparently gave the board a briefing on his plan to convert the Cameron House lodging units into residential condominiums at the June 28 meeting. The board gave approval for Mr. Thurston to continue completion of his final plan.

A number of groups from Maine boys and girls camps tried out BIG's fun stuff — from laser tag to water sliding this past week. Campers came from Camp Skylemar and Camp Takajo in Naples, Camp Wigwam in Waterford and Camp Indian Acres in Fryeburg. On Friday a large recreation group from Windham unwound at the adventure center.

On Friday, July 14, the Bethel Trails Committee of the Mahosuc Land Trust held its monthly meeting. Mayville trail aspirations have inserted themselves into the committee's schedule more loudly this year than previously. Since the committee's trail development priorities stem from a February 2005 meeting at Telstar High School, Mayville is not on a printed "to-do" list at present. The trail committee's goal is simply put: make "Walk America" available here — or bike or get out and see the environment you live in. Mayville is the geographical "hotel" of two components of this committee's plans — a path to Angevine Park and a pathway to Newry.

The job of building a financial plan for the committee to follow over the next three to five years and beyond created lengthy discussion last Friday. Mayville will undoubtedly make it into the plan in a large way with helpful input from Mayville residents — ideas, volunteer help and understanding that the unfolding of paths through Mayville will not happen overnight.

Jeff Parsons and I have the job of corralling willing helpers from Mayville. The people at this meeting heard that many Mayville businesses are keenly interested in what the Mayville trail picture will eventually look like. The biggest plum in our favor is that trails- sidewalks- pathways, etc., are also seen as tools of economic development — tying together the Mayville business community. For instance, Gary Szpara who owns the Rooster's Roadhouse told me that his decision to buy the property started when he walked from his room at the Norseman Inn to eat at the restaurant that was operated there previously — that kind of economic-development-walking is what is at stake here and state economic development planners reportedly see things that way, too.

In farming news the village's two largest hay harvesters, John Carter and Franklin Harrington are in the middle of their somewhat delayed-due-to-weather summer haying. Franklin has one advantage right now in that he can almost open his back barn door and toss his hay in right from the field — almost, that is.

In real estate news John and Dale Cheney have decided to sell the Norseman Inn. Kenneth Realty is their agent and had a large advertisement in last week's Citizen.

In wildlife news, we have four items to report: Ashton and I discovered an old moose skeleton in a jungle-like area near the river. We now have a moose jaw specimen that doubles as an excellent back scratcher. On Wednesday a fawn walked by close to our living room window. Ashton video taped the event. That night we set eyes on the very poised, svelte but well-fed raccoon who visits us nightly. We think that from the sounds and the smell he and br'er skunk met at close range on Wednesday night. Then Saturday we discovered where a skunk had been attacked and partially eaten on one of our walking paths. What animal gets that hungry?

To close with a reminder — please call or e-mail if you have news about Mayville. E-mail to Donald@thebetheljournal.com or telephone, 824-2094.

bloom, the lake is (almost) warm enough for swimming and vacationers and natives are taking to the outdoors to enjoy the benefits. The bugs have bugged out, somewhat, so we can enjoy ourselves without too much batting and scratching. The gardens are beginning to produce some edibles such as peas, beet greens and lettuce. Can the zucchinis be far behind? Forget the tomatoes as they won't be ripe till the end of August, if they do get ripe at all.

Jim Rector recently visited his son in Indiana.

Ginny Williamson was happy to have her granddaughter, Michelle, and a great-granddaughter, Kenoa, fly in from the Carolinas on Tuesday. Great-grandson Cameron is spending the summer here and having a great time.

Evelyn and Jim Kenney have returned from Nova Scotia.

Recently, Nancy Thew's horse, Bob, took many awards at a horse show. He is a beauty and recently turned five years old.

Several relatives visited the Caseys and enjoyed boat trips up to Sandy Beach for swimming and a picnic.

On the way to Portland to visit Richard, Walt Stanczyk and I witnessed a beautiful sight down at the Wight Farm in Newry. Mother doe was crouched down in the grass at the edge of the road and, as we approached, she jumped up and began running across the large field. Hippy hop behind her, twin fawns jumped up to follow mom. They were about a week old and of course covered with spots. They looked like rabbits as they bounded off.

Thanks to Margaret Mitchell for her information on the folks and happenings up on Back Street. Since I have been spending a lot of time with Richard at Maine Medical Center, I miss the phone calls with information about that part of town.

The dragonflies, nature's exterminators, are everywhere. What an interesting creature they are. Evelyn Kenney gave me an informative write-up on them that she garnered from a newspaper somewhere down on the coast. Here are some excerpts from it. Dragonflies begin life as nymphs that live underwater feeding on other aquatic creatures. According to www.dragonfly.com, the lifecycle consists of three stages, the egg, the nymph, and the adult. Fish really go for the hatchlings. This stage may be duplicated for fly fishing. The nymphs of larger dragonflies will feed on those of smaller species. Some nymph stages can last as long as four years. At that time they will crawl up an aquatic plant to emerge from the skin of the nymph. This is called extruvia. After emerging they may be seen drying their lovely wing on a rock, dock, or aquatic plant. The adults mate while flying and may be seen flying in tandem. One must waste no time in the north country, for the season is short. Use imitation dragonfly nymphs while fishing for trout and it may be very rewarding. Don't forget to thank the dragonfly for eating up all those pesky insects and their eggs.

Best wishes for a speedy recovery to Joy Yarnell, Sally Lavallee and Richard LeComte.

Gilead

by
Lin Chapman

The weather this past weekend was just what anyone would expect for July. It was a little too hot for me, and I spent as much time as I could near my air conditioner.

Hugh and I did venture out on Saturday to go to Mollycoddett Day in Bethel. As usual, we ran into a few people that we had not seen for awhile. Roger Dock was in town and we ran into him just after we had seen Danna Nickerson and Randy Bennett in front of the Bethel Historical Society. The parade was very nice and as soon as it was over, we made our way to the Gilead Fire Department food booth on the common. We decided to take our lunch and sit at the tables under the large tent near the gazebo. As I sat down, I realized someone was calling my name. At the other end of the table was Den and Rita Wilson. They were visiting with John and Nancy Wight. We decided it was too hot to stay much longer, so after lunch we headed for home.

I talked to Steve McLain and he said that he was up and out in his garden early to get work done before it got too hot. The garden is flourishing and so far he has not seen any four-legged intruders like woodchucks. The only four-legged visitor near his house, was seen by Linda Smith. She and Wayne were driving to Bethel and had a bear run out in front of them. Maybe the bear was visiting David Luxton's beehives.

Hugh and I went to Gorham recently to watch Tim and Michele's new modular house being set on the foundation. As we watched the big crane lift the pieces and set them down just as easy as could be, it brought back a memory of thirty years ago when our house in Gilead was set on the foundation the same way.

Our son, Chris, called over the weekend and said that it was just as hot out there in St. Cloud, Minn., as it was here. The temperature was in the 90s.

That was a nice picture in the paper last week of Celia and Bill Broomhall at their wedding. There is a long story that goes with getting ready for the wedding, but a condensed version is that a July 4th family get-together transformed into a wedding. Congratulations to Bill and Celia.

Selectmen's Meeting

There was a meeting on July 12 at the Town Hall. The minutes of the last meeting (June 14) were read and accepted. Some of the issues included: a boat launch on the town property near the dry hydrant on the Androscoggin River, Bev-

DBA: Elite Hair Design

Lindsay Pitcher recently opened Elite Hair Design in Andover Village, next to the General Store. Pitcher, who graduated last August from Capilo Institute in Augusta, does hair, nails and pedicure. Her hours are Tuesday and Wednesday, 8 a.m. to 4 p.m.; Thursday and Friday, noon to 7 p.m.; and the first and last Saturday of each month, 8 a.m. to 1 p.m. (392-2221).

erley would check into a Tax Anticipation Note, the writing of a letter to support the scenic byway project and holding the meetings during the summer at the Town Hall. At the July 12 meeting, the discussion was about Tax Abatements, revaluation of the town, phone lines for town buildings, Comprehensive Plan, and setting a date for a Special Town Meeting. The date for the Special Town Meeting was set for Aug. 16 at 7 p.m. at the Town Hall. A couple of the articles on the warrant will be the Comprehensive Plan, whether or not to construct a boat launch and any other articles that are a major concern to residents and should be brought before the town. These meetings are open to the public (except when there is an executive session to discuss personnel) and any resident of the town should plan on attending if they have concerns that they would like to bring before the board. The next selectmen's meeting will be at 7 p.m. on Aug. 9.

Gilead Historical Society Things are pretty quiet at the GHS right now. We have had a few inquiries about the new book, "Hastings." We will be co-hosting the Cohen Exhibit with the Bethel Historical Society on July 25. I am still hoping to hear from some members who would like to participate in the event.

The next event will be a Potluck Supper at 5 p.m. on Sept. 23 at the Town Hall and the Annual Meeting will follow that at 6:30 p.m.

On May 27, the organization honored graduating high school senior Kayla M. Mills with its annual Service Award Scholarship. Kayla, the daughter of Andover's Charlie and Rick Mills, received the award in recognition of her outstanding volunteerism in the River Valley area.

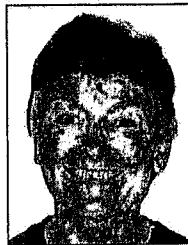

Before suspending ASC meetings for summer vacation, the group expanded its membership by two additional people. Ruth (Bodwell) Hilton had been brought up in Andover, where relatives still reside. She raised her family in the Wells/Kittery area. We are fortunate that she returned to our area upon her husband's retirement. While away, she had a variety of experiences ranging from substitute educator to retailer, along with her role as homemaker. Lora Owings relocated with her husband from Pennsylvania as an employee of World Wide Language Resources. She now is predominantly a retired linguist, as she delights in her role as mother to her toddler, Virginia.

Andover Service Circle is busy selling space on the Andover Town Common for Olde Home Days, Saturday, Aug. 5. Spots are going fast. Andrea urges all interested vendors to contact Judy Michaud at 392-1221. Also, all profits from the 2nd annual Andover Olde Home Days Road Race at 8 a.m. Aug. 5 will go to the Circle to benefit area families in need. Interested parties can contact Brianne Bailey at 392-1475 or Anne Marie Mahar at 864-3180 for registration forms, or they can plan to come early the day of the event to register (7 a.m. plus Andover Elementary School).

Lastly, Andrea wishes to remind everyone that the Circle is taking orders for the 2007 Andover Service Circle Community Calendar. Members attempt to canvass all households in Andover for calendar orders. However, on the chance that anyone is missed, she states that he/she can call in requests to Judy Michaud at 392-1221.

West Bethel

by Lorrie Hoeh

The spires of meadow-sweet are brightening the roadsides, along with black-eyed susan, yarrow, and St. Johnswort. I have even found a random ripe blueberry here and there, but they're far from ready for serious picking. The raspberries in our yard, however, are producing like mad, and what we can't eat right away goes into the freezer.

We're still fighting a losing battle against the weeds in both vegetable and flower gardens. While we are grateful for rain rather than drought, and we appreciate that people's wells are filling up nicely, a little moderation in precipitation would be acceptable.

Saturday, July 8, saw a third generation wedding in the Gilbert family at the West Bethel Union Church. Laura Anne Kennie, daughter of Jim and LeeAnn "Siggie" Kennie and granddaughter of Marilyn and Shirley Gilbert, married Jerry Michael Shea in a ceremony conducted by the Rev. Earl Bell. You may recall that the Gilberts recently celebrated their 60th anniversary on May 30. Laura's parents, the Kennies, were married there on July 29, 1972.

A wedding rehearsal cook-out was held at Marilyn and Shirley Gilbert's on July 7. According to the mother of the bride, there were family members attending from Maine, Massachusetts, and Florida. This was quite a reunion as the eight Gilbert cousins had not been together in more than seven years. Laura and Jerry used her grandmother's wedding cake knife to cut the wedding cake. Congratulations and best wishes to the newlyweds and their extended families!

Maureen Libby informs me that the farm shop at Sunday River Alpacas is now open for business. Regular hours will be Thursday through Sunday from 1 to 6 p.m., and other days by chance or appointment. Farm visits can be scheduled by calling 890-3148, or e-mailing to molibby@msn.com.

Maureen recently took White Heat and Spectator to the Bethel Camp for the Arts, held at Gould Academy for two weeks. She also brought along Aurora, one of the Great Pyrenees guard dogs. Back on June 15 Sunday River Alpacas hosted a group of inner city middle school students from Indiana on a tour of the farm. There were 38 youngsters plus their 16 chaperones arriving in at least eight rented vans on a warm, windy day (no bugs!) to visit the alpacas, feed the chickens and the fish, taste maple syrup, and learn about a different kind of life from that in the city.

Jane Hosterman and Percy

McGovern were there to assist with maple syrup, chicken feed, and chores, while I spun some of Vincent's fiber to show the young folks one of the reasons alpacas are valuable critters. There are plans afoot for a return trip next year.

Bethel Senior Citizens were fed a lovely lunch by the Greenwood Fire Auxiliary on Wednesday, the 12th, at Greenwood Town Hall. Afterward Cubby Swan gave an interesting talk about the area mills, what they manufactured, and how they operated. He had lots of show and tell, including wooden toys and figures all carved and painted in the local mills.

The flea market at the West Bethel Union Church on July 14 was very successful. Only a very few items had to be disposed of afterward.

Another Mollycodd Day has come and gone. Jane Hosterman was there as a volunteer in the Chamber of Commerce Duck Race booth. She enjoyed being on the scene and chatting with folks. Mike did a turn at the Mahosuc Land Trust booth. We were at the Common early to see the start of the road races, since grandson Andrew was running with the children, and his dad, Kirk Siegel, raced also, coming in fourth overall. Neighbor John Applin acquitted himself very well, coming in first in his age category. All that training on Grover Hill paid off! We chatted with him and Pauline while in line to get lobster rolls. We also stopped in to say hello to White Heat and Spectator at Maureen and Jeff's booth on the common. Both alpacas looked quite regal.

The Bethel Library had a very good book sale this year, starting on Friday, the 14th, and finishing on Mollycodd Day. At one point it looked like wall-to-wall people under the tent. This was the second of three major fundraisers for the library. Caroline Gould was at the table selling raffle tickets for the library quilt created by Cross Country Quilters (the third fundraiser!).

The heat wave goes on. Thank goodness for swimming pools and swimming holes! Stay cool and call or write with news: 836-3011; dhoeh@megalink.net.

Adults will be $6 and under $3 will be $3.

The next supper will be on Aug. 19 with a menu of ham and sweet potatoes.

Have a nice week and try to stay cool. God Bless the Troops.

What beautiful weather this past week, sunny and hot with a good cooling breeze. Flowers and lawns are green and growing fast. My lilies are doing well with several blossoms on the three kinds that my gardener daughter has planted here in past years.

Beryl Bonney attended a house warming in Waterford for her cousin and husband, Elizabeth and Chris Stevens. Many attended to wish them many happy years in their newly built home.

At the Universalist Church in West Sumner on July 23, the Rev. Earl Simpson will be the speaker. A luncheon and fellowship follows. All are welcome.

Kelsey Lamb and Jody Brooks were married at their new home in Lebanon on July 4 with a small family gathering present. She is the daughter of James and Chris Lamb and Diane Lamb. Grandparents are Cynthia and Sayward Lamb, and they were in attendance.

East Bethel

The Bethel Babe Ruth League ended up in fourth place, as they lost one too many games.

Ellen Brandt and sons, Keaton and Milo, visited with Jack and Lucy Nordahl for a week. They are daughter and grandsons of Jack and Lucy. They left to go home to Groton, Mass., on July 16.

Millie Jackson, Roger and Louise Twitchell, and Nancy Mercer attended the Bethel Seniors Citizens Club meeting at Greenwood on July 12.

Alder River Grange will have a Public Supper on July 22 at the Hall at 5 p.m. The menu is chicken ala king with casseroles, salads, and pies.

Cynthia and Sayward Lamb spent nights with their daughter, Natalie Morse, on their way to and from Lamb's Strawberry Farm — Pick Your Own — owned by their son, Ron Lamb. Judith Grover Tent 17 Daughters of Union Veterans of the Civil War met on Monday, July 10, at the home of Sally Sawyer. Nine members were present. A delicious picnic was held before the meeting. Members had a table at the Grange sale on July 15. Twenty-one calls were reported with the mystery package going to A.J. Cary. Seven members went to Department Convention in Waterville and two members will attend the National Convention in Pennsylvania. The next meeting is Aug. 14 at the Grange Hall. After the meeting a very impressive ceremony was held to burn the old flags taken from the cemetery and honor roll. When you have flags no longer fit to put out with tears or faded, give them to a member of the Daughters of Union Veterans or an American Legion member so they can be disposed of in an honorable manner.

Bob Hoyt and dog Sadie are visiting at his parent's home while he recovers from eye surgery.

Be sure to notice the new flagpole and flag on the common. This was given to the town by Evelyn T. Bean. Thanks Evelyn.

At the July meeting of the Woodstock Historical Society Joyce Howe presented a program on "So you think you know Maine." For instance what state officer succeeds the governor? Answer: The president of the Maine Senate. What Kennebec native was a columnist and successful travel writer? Answer: Kenneth Roberts. Governor James Longley used this more than any other governor? Answer: The veto. Senator Margaret Chase Smith always wore what? Answer: A red rose.

The members decided to have the annual picnic at the home of Mary Billings. Paul and Vicki Billings will bring a grill. The time will be 6 p.m., Aug. 12. The annual History Day and Sale is Aug. 19 from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. Anyone wanting a table in the parking lot should let the Billings family know. Some members will wear period costumes for History Day. Larry provided flowers to decorate at the meeting. Paul replaced some old light bulbs. Thanks to the gentlemen who brought the old coin shop for repairing the copier.

Curator Larry Billings put out a new exhibit on the late Duke and Duchess of Windsor in the Museum. Their estate brought fabulous prices at auction, including a separate auction for jewelry that the Duke gave the Duchess. Larry loves to study royalty. Their romance was legendary, and the Duke gave up the throne for her.

The Historical Museum is open every Saturday from 1 to 4 p.m. Be sure to visit.

Much sympathy to the family and friends of Carla Martin, who died this past week. She'll be greatly missed. I was sorry to hear of her death.

I received a call from Vicky Curry in Arizona, my sister's (the late Dotte Critser) daughter. Vicky is coming to Maine to see her relatives; she'll be here next week. She's getting anxious to come to Maine. She hasn't been here for 40 years. I haven't seen her in several years.

I don't have much news as we've been making plans for Dorothy Critser and Evelyn Dunn's memorial services on July 22.

Quote of the week: "I've learned that if someone asks 'How are you doing?' it's not necessary to give them a full report."

The heat wave is still with us as I write, but it is predicted to ease up soon. Contrary to what the weather folk tell us, these were not the first 90-degree days we've had this year. There were several others. Of course, Saturday it made it all the way to 100 degrees at the transfer station. We were fairly well cooked for the day. Sunday was a little better, but that is probably because we leave at 2 p.m. on Sundays and the heat escalated throughout the day. Hope it breaks soon. I for one am glad that it only comes a few days a year.

This being the third Monday of the month, I was able to attend the selectmen's meeting. The first item on the agenda was the selectmen (Norm Rust and David Marston), accepting the resignation of former selectman William (Whiz) Wheeler. Mr. Wheeler actually resigned at the previous select-men's meeting last Wednesday morning (July 12).

Other business included an announcement that the lawsuit regarding Keoka Campground and Mr. Searles will be arbitrated at the county appeals board sometime in August. The date was uncertain at this meeting. The Aversian property on Bear Pond was also discussed. They have until July 26 to clean it up and begin construction of a new building on the old footprint. Failure to do so by that date will result in the lot becoming unbuildable due to proximity to the pond. That is the date that the grandfathering expires. The Aversians also have until that date to clean up the mess left from the fire.

A report was given on the status of the fire safety inspection cleanup. It appears to be on target. John Martin is spearheading that work. Selectman Marston raised the suggestion that the town could request a state inspection and have them do so for free and without fear of fines and other consequences. Mr. Martin has a video in the works for fire extinguisher training.

The selectmen stated that they will begin accepting petitions for selectmen starting Tuesday, July 18. It will be advertised starting in next week's Advertiser-Democrat. Twenty-five (25) signatures of registered Waterford voters are needed to run. All are welcome to take out petitions. See Waterford Town Clerk Brenda Begonsky and Assistant Clerk Jen Morin. The vote will be Sept. 6 from 12 noon to 8 p.m. at the Town Office. The person will hold office until the March Town Meeting.

The REC Program has until January 2007 to decide whether to move under SAD17's umbrella or go it alone. At present it runs under the town of Waterford.

The Waterford Library Book Club will meet on July 26 at 10:30 a.m. The book to be discussed is "The Glass Castle." The author is Jeanette Walls. The book chronicles her upbringing at the hands of eccentric nomadic parents. The selection for Aug. 23 is "Snow Flower" and the "Secret Fan." That is all for this week. Hope everyone is coping okay with the heat. I thought I was going to lose Tasha, but she knew what to do to beat the heat. Enjoy the days. It will be over all too soon.

From Bethel Historical Society's Regional History Center

An exhibit, "Cohen, Congress, and Controversy: Rediscovering Civics in the Archives" will open on Tuesday, July 25, at 6 p.m. in the Bethel Historical Society's Regional History Center's O'Neil Robinson House. The exhibit, focusing on Congressman and later U. S. Senator William S. Cohen's oversight record in the years 1973-1997, will also be highlighted by items from the collection of the Bethel Historical Society as well as loans from individuals. It is sponsored by the University of Maine's Fogler Library in cooperation with the William S. Cohen Center at the University. Local hosts on July 25 will be the Bethel and Gilead historical societies. Designed to travel the route Cohen walked in his tour of the Second Congressional District in 1972 to win his seat in Congress, the exhibit will eventually arrive at the end of the line in Fort Kent.

During the opening of the exhibit, Paige Lilly of the University of Maine's Fogler Library will have a few remarks. She will be followed by Professor Chris Potholm of Bowdoin College, who will provide some reflections on his friend Bill Cohen. Potholm was one of the Cohen "brain trust" who advised the candidate and later Congressman and Senator on a number of issues including campaign strategy. He will speak in the Dr. Moses Mason House Meeting Room at 7:30 p.m.

At approximately 4 p.m., there will be a gathering at the state line in Gilead where Professor Potholm and others interested in visiting the spot where Bill Cohen's political career began can pose for photos.

The public is invited to the photo opportunity, exhibit opening and the lecture. There is no admission charge and everyone is welcome.

Yankee Brass Band

The last week in July is very special to a few musicians who gather in Waterville, on the campus of Colby College, to participate in "The Yankee Brass Band." The common thread that these musicians share is their interest and knowledge of Civil War era music and the brass instruments played during that period.

These musicians come from throughout the United States from a variety of backgrounds to play saxhorns, cornets, ophicleides, keyed bugles, and even rope tension drums — instruments normally found only in museums. Through the efforts of Paul Mayberry of St. Paul, Minn., and collector of Civil War instruments Jon Hall of Portland, these musicians are given the opportunity to re-create concerts that could have been heard on any town common in New England in this era.

The Bethel Historical Society will be hosting the Yankee Brass Band on Saturday, July 29, on the lawn of the Dr. Moses Mason House beginning at 6:30 p.m. (rain location, the West Parish Congregational Church). One of the highlights of the Bethel performance will be the playing of music by Bethel's Hosea Ripley, whose compositions have been played at the Smithsonian in Washington, DC and are archived in Lincoln Center in New York.

These performances in Waterville, Boothbay Harbor, Portland, North Conway and finally in Bethel offer a unique opportunity to hear and see a brass band as people in an earlier era would have experienced music of the time. There is no admission charge, but sponsors are welcomed and the list of those supporting this event will be posted at the concert. Anyone wishing to become a sponsor of this or other Bethel Historical Society summer events is cordially invited to do so by sending a tax-deductible contribution to the society at P.O. Box 12, Bethel, ME 04217-0012.

From Western Mountains Senior College

Western Mountains Senior College is presenting a lecture and discussion entitled "All

The World's a Stage and I'm the Director!" The presenter is Mel Howards, Ph. D. The event will occur in Trustees Auditorium in the McLaughlin Science Building of Gould Academy on Church Street, Bethel on Thursday, July 25 at 7:30 p.m.

Howards is a Northeastern University professor emeritus who founded and served as artistic director of the Senior Players group. He has directed several plays in the Portland Area.

"All The World is a Stage and I'm the Director!" focuses on history of the theatre and why it has survived for 2,500 years, how theatre influences politics, sports, religion and love, plus how people engage in theatrical activity everyday.

Admission is free and open to the public. The event begins at 7:30 p.m. The Western Mountains Senior College strives to offer intellectually stimulating learning opportunities and activities for adults ages 50 and over.

From Community Lakes Association

Hopefully this will answer the questions raised at the Community Lakes Association meeting on July 8 regarding state of Maine law regarding floats and buoys:

a) Mooring Buoys: Shall be colored white with a single blue horizontal band clearly visible above the water line. No mooring may be installed so that it or the object moored thereto extends beyond the water safety zone (200 feet from any shore) or one-third the distance to the opposite shore, whichever is less.

b) Organized Swim Areas: All such areas must be enclosed with line floats to delineate the limits of said area and must be marked at the outer offshore bounds by at least two (2) swim area markers, etc.

c) Floats — Swimming and Diving: No such structure will be anchored or moored beyond the water safety zone (200 feet from any shore), or one-third the distance to the opposite shore, whichever is less.

The NEW Top Furniture Celebrates 56 Years with a NEW STORE!

In 1950, Top Tourangeau opened the first Top Furniture on Main Street in Berlin, New Hampshire. Since then, Top Furniture has remained a major source of sales and service for furniture, appliances, and home entertainment for the North Country. That is largely because they have continued to provide what Top Tourangeau promised his customers 56 years ago - #1 GUARANTEE EVERYTHING: Sell to meet your customers' expectations. #2 Provide quality products at the LOWEST POSSIBLE PRICE. #3 Offer a SELECTION of the latest styles, colors and technology. #4 PROVIDE a choice of LOW OR NO COST FINANCING PLANS. Wow!

Today, in 2006, the folks at Top Furniture believe quality and good service are as important as ever, and this philosophy continues to make Top Furniture hard to beat.

Chances are they will HAVE WHAT YOU WANT in their new 42,000 sq. ft. store. It's 50% bigger, with exciting new displays offering more selection and a state-of-the-art entertainment department! A huge 9 level warehouse on the premises, means more "in stock" to give you faster delivery, and truckload purchasing means lower prices.

You'll find the NEW Top Furniture right across from their old location for the past 45 years...Route 16, halfway between Berlin and Gorham, New Hampshire. They have everything you need for your home - all in one place.

The 24th annual Western Oxford County Frog Jumping Contest on Mollycokett Day. Silvan Sweetser's frog took first place with a distance of 161 inches. Second and third places went to Josiah Rottari and Matthew Morin whose frogs jumped 143 1/2 inches and 131 1/2 inches. A prize for the shortest distance, 20 1/2 inches, was awarded to Morgan Lee and Jaimie Steven.

"Yard Art" parade trophy winners for Best Theme were first place, Joe Bailey and friends; second place, the Bethel Alliance Church; and third place, Steve Wight and grandchildren.

The 10th annual Old Time Fiddlers Contest results were: first place Jay Smith; second, Sandy Hatch; third, Roger Valcolin. Senior, first place Bill Scott; second, Jody Kasregis, Junior, first place Milo Stanley; second, Rebecca Grube; third, Jasmine Chick. Jr. Jr. first place, Curren Mackie Malcolm; second, Rachel Goldberg.

From Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce

We have a few summer events "under our belts" now, with the success of the Bethel Art Fair on July 1 and our three Mollycokett Day events. These would not be possible without the support of our sponsors, prize donors and volunteers.

The Bethel Art Fair was sponsored by Coca-Cola Bottling Co., with additional support from the Bethel Inn Resort, the Maine Press, Portland Natural Gas Transmission Systems, Western Maine Health, Oxford Networks, Northeast Bank, the Good Food Store and the RiverView Resort. Thanks to Mahosuc Arts Council for the donation of the inflatable sculpture and to the Mahosuc Kids Association for offering children's art activities during the day. Our volunteer judges were Sally Taylor and Peter. A special thanks to our Art Fair Committee: Karen Swanson, Irene and Amanda McGrew and Heather Hale-Nivus. The following list of volunteers were integral to the event's success: Joe Arizzi, Lynn Arizzi, Roger Beaudoin, Tim Carter, Sylvia Clanton, Al Cressy, Carole Duplessis, Colleen Files, Dave Freiday, Dillon Gillies, Darlene Ginsberg, Wende Gray, Sharon Haendel, Heather Hale-Nivus, Karen McElroy, Amanda McGrew, Rene McGrew, Cynthia Moran-Laux, Kevin Pennell, Bruce Powell, Cathy Rainville, Karen Swanson, Bill Tout, Ginny Walker, Donna Whipple, Bill White, Nancy White, Wendy Zimmerman.

The Key Bank Mollycokett Day Classic was well attended, despite the hot temps. Many thanks to our sponsors: Key Bank, Pepsi Bottling Group, All Doyles Cleaning Service, Harvest Carpentry, Goodwin's Insurance, and NTL Institute. Timing Services were provided by All Sports Events. Prizes for the participants were donated by: Sunday River Ski Resort, Smith & Town Printers, BIG Adventure Center, Crossroads Diner & Deli, and Bethel's Best. Many thanks to the tremendous volunteer support: Pauline Applin, Nancy Babcock, Mike Broderick, Marvin Collins, Punky Davis, Tama Drown, Colleen Files, Dave Freiday, Dillon Gillies, Paula Gillies, Wende Gray, Ray Higby, Larry Kennedy, Alice Lorenzoth, Marjorie Osgood, Carrie Phelps, Dan Zinchuk, Jim Reuter, Julia Reuter, Carol Savage, Bill Tout and Michele Vuoluo. The race winners are listed elsewhere in this paper.

The lobster roll booth is always a big hit. Many thanks to Pepsi Bottling Group for their sponsorship and to Jim Largess for his continued coordinating role. Also, a huge thanks to Reggie Brown for the donation of his tent for the event. Thanks to the following lobster roll makers: John Amann, Lem Cissel, Mike Brown, Al Cressy, Jim Largess, Samantha Largess, Pat McCarthy, Fred Nolte, Joyce Roma, Pat Roma, Mike Steven, and Doug Webster.

Finally, the Great Duck Race on the Sunday River, was supported by many people in the community and we thank you for purchasing a chance on a fast duck. The list of winners and prize donors appears in an ad in this edition of the paper. Our top duck seller this year was again Cynthia Moran-Laux. Volunteering for this event out at the bridge was a real adventure due to the high water. Many thanks to Duckmeister Steve Wight and his crew: Eric Boyle, Wight, Tony Andrews, Cherie Thurston, Josef Holt, Doug and Dan Zinchuk, Kate and Rachel Goldberg and several others who dove in to rescue the ducks from being swept downstream. A hearty thanks to the duck sellers: chamber board members, and the following who sold on the common: Roger Beaudoin, Lem Cissel, Barbara Douglass, Debbie and Edie Doyle, Susan Driscoll, Sharon Haendel, Jane Hosterman, Cathy Lane, Trisha Lee, Joyce Roma, Lynn Saxton, Ginny Walker, Donna Whipple and Bill and Nancy White.

We sincerely thank all these folks for their efforts on behalf of the chamber.

From Oxford County Republicans

Maine Republican Vice Chair Dan Schuberth was the featured speaker at the annual picnic held on Stan Howe's Broad Street lawn in Bethel on July 11 attended by more than fifty Oxford County Republicans. County Chairman Erlon Jones manned the grill to cook the hamburgers and hot dogs, which along with the salads and desserts made for hearty outdoor fare. The event was sponsored by the Bethel Republican Town Committee.

During his remarks, Vice Chair Schuberth, highlighted the great opportunity for victory in 2006 with a united party eager to take over the State House of Representatives after more than thirty years of Democratic mismanagement. He also predicted that the State Senate would also go Republican this year and cited a recent poll showing Chandler Woodcock defeating John Baldacci for governor as good news indeed. He praised Oxford County for its organization and its nearly complete electoral success in 2004 and urged the good work to continue by holding our current positions and working hard to defeat Rep. John Patrick and Sen. Bruce Bryant.

During the meeting, Chairman Jones introduced John Frary of Farmington, the Franklin County chairman as well as Walt and Nancy Stickney from North Salem, N.H. Walt Stickney has held a number of state positions in New Hampshire and was once the FEMA administrator during the administration of the first President Bush. His wife was formerly in the New Hampshire House of Representatives and grew up on Broad Street in Bethel.

Also present and introduced were Rep. Arlan Jodrey (R-Bethel), Rep. Bruce Hamley (R-Paris), Rep. Jim Hamper (R-Oxford), Rep. Sawin Millett (R-Waterford), Senator David Hastings (R-Fryeburg), Paula Smith of Andover, Republican candidate for House Seat 92, Nancy Bessey of Rangeley, Republican candidate for House Seat 91 and Chris Wainwright of Canton, Republican candidate for Oxford County Sheriff.

The next meeting was announced for Aug. 8 in Fryeburg at the Fairgrounds.

From

West Paris Public Library

Plans are currently underway for the annual Book Sale at the West Paris Public Library. Friends of the Library have the event set for Saturday, Aug. 12, from 9 a.m. to noon.

The library is currently accepting donations of books and videos that are in good condition for the sale. Donations may be left at the library during regular hours, Mondays and Fridays from 1:30 to 6 p.m. or Wednesdays from 1:30 to 7 p.m. All materials will be reviewed for possible addition to the library collection.

The proceeds from the sale are used to benefit library projects at the "Little Castle." For more information, call 674-2004 during library hours.

BERTHA M. MYERS

Bertha Meisner Myers, 74, formerly of East Andover, died in Toledo, Ohio on July 4, 2006 after a brief illness.

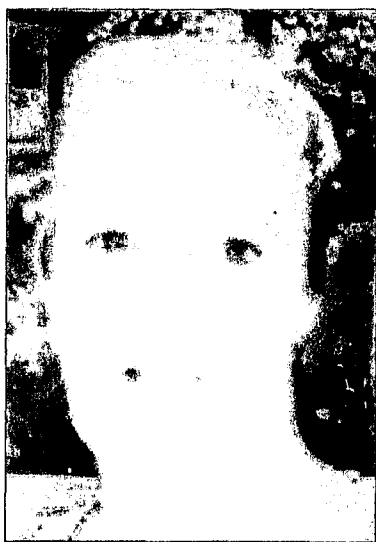

She was born on Feb. 28, 1931 to the late Laurie Meisner and Mary Morse of East Andover.

Bertha was a very active member of AA Foundation of Toledo and made an impact on many members of that association.

She is survived by her daughters, Pamela Williams and Mary Ames of Toledo, Ohio, and Rebecca Marston of Auburn; a sister, Adelia Curato of Rumford; half brother, Warren Meisner and her stepmother, Edith Meisner of East Hartford, Conn.; and many cousins. She was pre-deceased by her parents and a sister, Carola.

She dearly loved her grandchildren and great-grandchildren living outside of Maine.

Services will be held at "Height of Land" in August. Her last wishes were to be placed among the pine trees and lake of her beloved state of Maine.

CARLA JANE MARTIN

Carla Jane (Morgan) Martin, 53, of Greenwood, passed peacefully at her home in Greenwood on Wednesday July 12, 2006, with her loving family by her side.

She was born on April 10, 1953 in Norway to Edgar and Julia (Briggs) Morgan. She was educated in Woodstock and Greenwood schools, graduating from Telstar Regional High School in 1971.

She was employed with area wood mills including Stowell Wood Products, until it closed in 1989, and Ekco Wood Products until she was diagnosed with Ankylosis Spondylitis (arthritis of the spine) in 1990. At that time she became a full-time wife and mother to her son Luke, whom she adored.

She married her true love, Clark B. Martin on May 26, 1979. They celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary with a trip to Las Vegas.

She loved camping with her husband and other family members, gambling trips to Connecticut, shopping trips with her sisters and spending time with her loved ones.

Carla will always be known as a compassionate and caring person, especially when it came to animals. She adopted her best four-legged friend, Molly, from the Cocker Spaniel Rescue League.

She will be truly missed by her husband, Clark Martin of Greenwood; son, Luke Martin of Portland; daughter, April Martin of Auburn; two sisters, Marcia Monk and her husband Percy of Bryant Pond and Gloria Robinson and her husband Royce of Groton, Conn.; two brothers, Gerald Johnson and his wife Virginia of Bryant Pond and Charles Johnson and his wife Wanda of Greenwood; and her best friend, Molly. She was predeceased by her parents and a sister, Shirley Seames in 2003.

Graveside services were held at the Lakeside Cemetery, Bryant Pond, on Saturday, July 15, with Lissa Bradford officiating.

MONA E. EAMES

Mrs. Mona E. Eames, 86, of Errol, N.H., passed away at the home of her daughter on the afternoon of Wednesday, July 12, 2006, after a long illness and surrounded by her loving family.

Mrs. Eames was born Oct. 19, 1919, in Lincoln Plantation, Wilson's Mills, Maine, daughter of the late Ernest Bennett and Vesta (Barrows) Bennett.

Mrs. Eames attended Lewiston High School in Lewiston. After graduation, she moved to Errol and married Everett Eames in 1938.

During their 66-year marriage, Everett and Mona were well known in the area for operating Eames Garage in Errol on the corner of Routes 26 and 16. Her daily batches of homemade muffins and doughnuts at the garage were weaknesses for many who stopped.

Mona especially enjoyed the time that she spent with her family at camp on Lake Umbagog. She will be missed by many, and will be remembered as a fun-loving wife, mother, aunt, grandmother, and friend.

Survivors include her four children, Elsie Hall and husband David of Errol, N.H., Norman "Pete" Eames of Errol, N.H., Carlton Eames and wife Cynthia of Errol, N.H., and Chester Eames and wife Bonnie of Goffstown, N.H.; fourteen grandchildren; sixteen great-grandchildren; and numerous nieces, nephews and cousins. She was preceded in death by her husband, Everett, in August of 2005; one brother, Lauren Bennett; and three sisters, Marjorie Littlehale, Marna Eastman, and Mary Jordan.

A funeral service was held on Monday, July 17, at the Errol Congregational Church with The Reverend Larry Clough officiating. An interment service followed at the Errol Cemetery.

Expressions of sympathy in Mrs. Eames' memory may be made to the Everett Eames Memorial Scholarship Fund, c/o Rosemary Mulliken at the First Colebrook Bank, Main Street, Colebrook, NH 03576, or the Alzheimer's Healthcare Services, 610 Sullivan Street, Condolences may be offered to the family online by going to www.jenkinsnewman.com.
